Introduction

This document shows the electronic images for prescription drugs that were presented to respondents for the 2020 National Survey on Drug Use and Health (NSDUH). The images in this document are intended to give readers a sense of the types and general appearance of these prescription drugs because the actual electronic version of the NSDUH questionnaire is not available online (see below). These images are included in this document by permission of SFI Medical Publishing of Lawrence, Kansas, the owner of the copyright of the images.

Questions for the 2020 NSDUH used computer-assisted interviewing (CAI), in which questions were administered using a laptop computer. Questions for prescription drugs were self-administered using audio computer-assisted self-interviewing (ACASI). For ACASI, respondents read or listen to the questions on headphones, then enter their answers directly into a NSDUH laptop computer. The full set of written programming specifications for the 2020 NSDUH questionnaire are available at https://www.samhsa.gov/data/.

The electronic images in this document were shown to respondents on the laptop computer screen to assist them with recognition and recall of specific prescription drugs that they used in the past 12 months. These images replaced printed pill cards that were presented to respondents prior to 2015. This change facilitated the data collection process because respondents did not need to pause to ask interviewers to hand them a printed pill card for a set of prescription drug questions. Use of electronic images also provided a greater degree of privacy for respondents because interviewers would not know when respondents had reached the questions for prescription drugs. To encourage more complete reporting, images in 2020 included examples of prescription drugs other than pills, such as a picture of morphine in liquid form for injection and pictures of patches for delivering some drugs through the skin.

The following notes apply to this document:

• Because the images in this document are used by permission, the security settings for this document do not allow the images to be downloaded or copied.

• For brevity, the response choices that were presented to respondents on the laptop computer screen during the interview are not shown in this document. The response choices can be seen as part of the full CAI specifications at https://www.samhsa.gov/data/. In question PR01, for example, respondents were instructed to choose number 1 if they used Vicodin®, number 2 if they used Lortab®, number 3 if they used Norco®, number 4 if they used Zohydro® ER, and number 5 if they used generic hydrocodone in the 12 months prior to the interview date. As indicated by the instructions, respondents could choose more than one drug from the list.

• "Screener" questions are shown for any use of specific prescription drugs in the past 12 months. Respondents who reported use of a specific prescription drug in the past 12 months were asked whether they used that drug "in any way a doctor did not direct you to use it" and were again shown the image for that particular prescription drug.
• The layout on subsequent pages in this document is not intended to match the appearance of the actual questions on the laptop computer screen.

• Although the electronic files of prescription drug images that were used in the CAI questionnaire also were used in this document, the appearance of the images in this document may not exactly match the details of the images in the actual questionnaire for a variety of reasons (e.g., differences in hardware and computer screen settings between readers' computers and those for the NSDUH laptop computers for the questionnaire). Nevertheless, these images provide useful details to readers about the examples of prescription drugs that were presented to respondents (e.g., whether forms of the drugs included tablets or capsules, colors of pills, and examples of forms of these drugs other than pills).

• Some of the images in this document may have been scaled for publication purposes. To aid recall, the actual sizes of pills were shown to respondents on the computer screen during the interview. For forms other than pills (e.g., a vial of liquid morphine for injection), images were not shown to respondents during the interview in their actual sizes.
