LinkedIn: The Department of Health and Human Services 2024 National Strategy for Suicide Prevention is a commitment to care, connect, and collaborate.

- Caring about suicide prevention requires a thoughtful strategy and the intersection of prevention, intervention, and postvention supports.
- Connecting to community and culture are key protective factors for health and well-being, including protecting against suicide risk. Connecting with data and research helps inform efforts and approve the ability for effective suicide prevention strategies.
- Carrying out a comprehensive approach relies on collaboration with public and private sector partners, people with suicide-centered lived experience, and people in populations disproportionately affected by suicide and suicide attempts.
